The good news comes from Washington that Gorham will not be elected secretary of the senute.

If Mr. Tempson does not serve John Brown better than he served "Early Spring", it will be hard on the late body servant of the queen.

Boston is somewhat freeing itself from the influence of Singger Sullivan and Saloon-keeper Murch. It has elected a republican mayor, which may be regarded as a new departure.

Philadelphia hasn't had a lively time since the centennial, and wanted the national republican convention to stir her up a little. There are more attractions in Chicago, and Chicago won.

Another grave-yard insurance company has come to grief in Iowa. It took mon who were past three score and teu. regardless of their health. It was a rotton concern from the beginning.

Colonel Robert Ingersoll has purchased a new house in Washington, now being next door neighbor to Senator Sherman. He lives in luxury, his income being all that he and his wife and two daughters can spend.

Some papers are talking of Grant and Lincoln as the next republican ticket. Illinois is a very good state for corn and republicans, but it hardly ments the hon. or of furnishing both the head and the tail of the ticket.

The lambermen in the northern part of the state are getting discouraged because the weather is too fine. While the farmers in the southern part of the state are plowing and smiling, their brethren up north are idleing and sorrowing.

The commercial value of the affection of a wife in Ohio, has been assessed at one cent. W. W. Stewart, of Newark, sued George R. Green, a wealthy neighbor, for $10,000 for alienating the affections of his wife, and was given damages to the amount of only one cent.

A jury has been obtained at Eillsboro, Lilinois, for the trial of Pettis, Clementi and Montgomery. Miss Emnia Bond fainted once in the court-room, and afterward sat propped up in a rocking-chair with pillows. It will be a hardfought case, and the result is doubtful. It will be bad for the defense to attempt to prove that her condition when found in the school house was the result of her owa willful indescretion.

Matters at New Laredo, in New Mexico, stand about this way: "An order has been issued for the arrest of Senor Quinta, mayor of this city, on a charge of being one of the principals in the recenttrain robbery on the Mexican railroad, The authorities of the state refused to surrender him. Other prominent Mexican officials are involved in the robbery and the affair is assuming a serious national aspect. Several of the robbers have escaped through the delay and indiscretion of officials in charge of the investigation of the affair."

a case of fords rep their folly: "Several days ago all the white students of the Washington college of pharmacy left the institution because a colored man was admitted. They have since all gone back feeling very much ashamed of themselves. The colored man is said to be very bright, and to conduct himself in a quiet, unobtrusive manner. The trustees say they will stand by him, but will not admit any more of his race to the institution, not because of race prejudice, but for finandial reasons."

We learn from the State Journal that Secretary A. O. Wright, of the state board of charities and roform, has received several communications recently in reference to the importation of paupers into this state from adjoining states, and especially from Minnesota, and as to the mothods of preventing it. The matter will be discussed by the board at an early day in all its bearidge and if it is found that the alleged importations are true. some means will be devised, if possible, to discourage it. Professor Wright says there is no law applying to the case, and that the policy is pursued by poor-officers in this state as well as in other states. He says that paupers, and even insane persons, are brought across the line by poor officers and allowed to go at random. He also says that Wiscousin receives her portion of immigrant paupers sent direct from European countries. The next national republican convention will be held in Chicago, and the date has been fixed for June 3, 1884. The most memorable national convention ever held in this country, was hold May, 1860. Chicago, in tion gave the world Abraham Lincoln. Eight years after that, General Grant was nominated in Chicago; and twelve years still later the lamented Garfield, against his own desire, was given the nomination after one of the bitterest contests ever seen in a political convention. It is somewhat singular that three of the highest characters ever produced in this country, were nominated for the presidency in Chicago, and all were elected. It may be that the national republican convention of 1834 may create another character that shall stand forth as one of the brightest examples of American statesmen and America's manhood.

Governor Rusk thinks he has a better way to dispose of the surplus revounce than that or giving it to the state significant convention. The Republican differences, who are in favor of elevating and dignifying American labor, protecting and extending home industries, giving free oppular education to the masses of the popular education to the masses of the popular delegates and province the lamb through the lamb through throughout the land by takintaining a national government pledged to those objects and provinces and the convention. The delegates at large; from each compressional districts at large; from each convention. The Republican of the care by popular delegates at large; from each compressional districts and held not more than sixty dury because the time fixed for the meeting of the minimal convention. The Republican of the various congressional districts at any time within the fifteen days max prior to the meeting of the state conventions, called on similar notice, and held in districts at any time within the fifteen days max prior to the meeting of the state conventions o struggle iu that convention gave the world Abraham

Mgr. Copel attended the Vanderbuilt | by the governor. It says that "such ball, but except at the table, did not take a suggestion from that quarter is not un-expected. Governor Rusk was formerly a member of congress from Wisconsin, and he claims the (radit of having invented the pension-arrears act now upon the statute book, and of working it through congress. That loosely framed act has opened the door for more fraud and corruption than any law ever passed by congress, and the good it has accomplished is as the dust of the balance when compared with its svil coustquences, it calls for the disbursement of $50,000,000 or $60,000,000 annually, which would not be begrudged to needy and mentorious soldiers, but the great bulk of the money thus paid out under the pension-arrears act goes to rescally pension agents and to others who are not

The Ggarden City Secures the National Republican Convention,

And the Question of Change of Basis of Representation Referred to the Bolegates Thereto --- The Call.

Washington City, Dec. 13.—The meeting of the Republican national committee took place at the Ardington house and was fully attended. The first business was the selection of a chairman to succeed Marshall Jewell, and Senator Sabin, of Minnesota, was chos-

Senator Prys then brought forward his plan to change the basis of the representation in the convention, and supported it with a vigorous speech. He said it presented a sub-ject which demanded housest and conscien-tions attachen. When our continuous tions attention. When any gontleman made a proposition to change the form of the national convention every man who was a can-didate for president, or who had one, immedi-ately suiffed at it. He denied that he offered ately suiffed at it. He denied that he offered the new plan is favor of the interests of Mr. Blaine and in opposition to the interests of Mr. Arthur. He had not a candidate, and, so help him God, he never again would have one. Mr. Fryy then quoted statistics to show that the representatives from the southern states which were anti-Republican was nearly as large as that from the states which were strely Republican, and are nearly this two very discovering the states which were strely Republican, and are nearly that his proposition. publican, and argued that his proposition was in the interest of absolute justice which the national committee could not afford to deny.

Mr. Forbes, of Massachusetts, briefly supported the proposition submitted by Mr. Pryo, stating that the country would criti-cise the party, if it refused to imagurate re-form in the organization of the convention. The matter was then laid aside in order to The flutter was then man associated to settle the time and place of helding the convention, and a resolution was adopted fixing

June 3, 1884, as the date.

Delegates from Chicago, Philadelphia, Indianapolis, Saratoga and New York were then heard in advocacy of holding the con-vention at their respective cities.

Four ballots were taken on this question, the last resulting in the choice of Chicago Ly a vote of Chicago Ly a vote of Chicago Ly a vote of the committee, without taking a vote of Mr. Frye's proposition, took a recess until 7

When the committee reassembled at 7 p. m., discussion began over a point of order, which had been raised, that as the committee had and over ruses, that is the committee had on February last agreed upon a basis of representation it could not now again change that plan. Secretary Chandler spoke against the point of order, holding that the committee had the power to change the basis. Senator Logan denied that the committee possessed the power; the national convention only had such power. Canadier continuing, appealed to the members from the south and from the territories to vote for the Frye plan, arguing that it was demanded by the of Republicans in Republican states.

Gen. Bradley, of Kontucky, favored the position taken by Senator Logan. In reply to a taunt that the south could not give a single electoral vote to the Republican candidate, he said, that if the Republican party of the north had given to the south the care and attention that it gave to the doubtful states north, the south would furnish electora votes. It had given lives for the good of the

Dr. Hicks of Florida said there were graveyards miles long in the south, filled with murdered Republicans. Mr. Pierce, of Rhode Island, was sorry to see the debate take such a wide course, and feared if it was reported in the newspapers it would delight the Bourbons of the country. The south had given us a president in 1876. He did not favor departing from the present plan. After further expressions of opinion from various members of the committee, Mr. Magee, of Pennsylvania, moved, and Mr. Reynolds seconded the motion, to refer Senator Frye's dun to the next Republican convention,

On motion of secretary changes and resolved:

That this committee views with regret and indignation, the recent attempts to suppress human rights and destroy free suffrage, and an houset counting of ballots in the various states by methods at war with humanity and civilization. Against the prevalence of such toethods the Republican party stands sacredly and irrevocably pledged; and we extend our synapathies to all the sufferers from such inhumanities and pledge our earnest and unconditional co-operation, and the right hand of fellowship to all mon and to all organizations, whatever may have been their past political action, who now unreservedly commit themselves to organized efforts to secure posteria action, who have developed con-nuit themselves to organized efforts to secur-free education, free suffrage, and the pro-tection of life and property to all citizens without regard to their race and color political opinions or votes.

CALL FOR THE CONVENTION. The following call was then adopted:

delegates shall be chosen in the latter method if not elected previous to the meeting of the state conventions. All district delegates shall be accredited by the officers of such district conventions. Two delegates shall be accredited by the officers of such district conventions. Two delegates shall be accredited by the officers of such district conventions. Two delegates shall be allowed from each territory and from the District of Columbia similarly chosen. Notices of contests shall be given to the national committee accompanied by full printed statements of the grounds of contest, which shall also be made public, and unforced in shall also be made public, and preference in the order of hearing and determining contest the order or nearing and determining concessibilities given, by the convention, according to the dates of the reception of such notices and statements by the national committee. The committee then at 11:20 adjourner to meet in Chicago, May 31, 1884.

The News at Chleage.

Unicado, Dec. 13.—The news that the m ional Republican committee had decided upon Chicago as the location of the next con-vention was received with manifestations of satisfaction alike by Republicans and Demo-It is accepted as a settled that the Democratic conven-will also be held here. and it is probable that the expenses of fitting up the vast expessition building will be borne jointly by the two committees. Warren Lefand telegraphs from Washington:
"Logan did it. Givo him the thanks."
Speculation is rife as to the probable effects of the location upon the general's chances for the nomination.

The Democrats.

WASHINGTON CITY, Dec. 13,-The Deray catic national committee will meet in Wash ington City on Feb. 22, 1884, to decide upon the time and place for holding the next naional Democratic convention.

A JURY SECURED.

Trial of the Emma Bond Case Begun...Statements of Counsel. Hillshono, Ill., Dec. 13.-A jury in the trial of Montgomery, Pettis and Comenti, for assault on Miss Emma Bond, has been se-cured, and the trial begun. States attorney Drennen opened case for the state, which he suid would show a chain of circumstances that would be sufficient to indicate a conspiracy among the defendants in the mids of whose homes the crime was committed The attorney then detailed the circumstance The attorney then detailed the circumstances of the outrage. It would be proved, the attorney said, that Pottis and Clomonti were not at the place they claimed to be on the aftornoon and night of the outrage. Such admissions by the defendants as "John Montgonery has given a ways" would also be presented against us away" would also be presented against them. He cantioned the jury to weigh the testimony that would be introduced as a testimony that would be introduced as a whole, and not form their verdict from the testimony of single witnesses.

J. C. McBride then opened the case for the defense. He stated that they expected to prove a complete alibit for the defendants, especially Montgomery. He explained at some length the whoreabouts of Montgomery, Clementi, and Pettis on the afternoon of the our rage. He said that it would be shown that the defendants that it would be shown that the defendants were not near the school-house at the time when the crime was committed. During the first part of State's Attorney Dren-nen's opening speech Miss Bond and her father, mother, and sister came into the court room, but remained but a few moments. Miss Bond was ghastly pale and appeared quite nervous. She was propped up in a rocking chair with pillows. She did not turn her head in the direction of the defendants.

THE REAL MASTODONS.

Preparations Complete for the Cincinnati Minstrel Festival.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Dec. 13.—The Probintans Bob Miles and Mr. Welch have concluded the plans and arrangements for the great minstrel festival, to be held at Minsic hall, be-ginning December 30 and continuing one week. There will be 500 performers in all on week. There will be 500 performers in all on the stage. The chorus singers come from New York, Philadelphia, Chicago and Louis, ville, and have been reheaving for some time. The interior of the hall will be decorated with tropical plants, and all the scenes on the stage will be realistic of life in the south, the steambeat landings, the cotton fields, the pickaniunies, etc. The chorus singers will all join in the choruses of all songs, and everything promises to go off with a whirl. The stage will be calarged to proper proportions for good work. A military band of over 100 pieces has been engaged, and an immense orchestra. The engaged, and an in New York chorussingers will come through on a special oar the day before the festival begins. During the festival there will be a grad street parade each day, with twelve drum-majors and a military guard, who will go through evolutions as the parade moves along. The prices of admission to the festival have been tixed at 25 cents and 50 cents, and perhaps 75 cents for reserved seats,

Turned States Evidence.

Canton, Ohio, Dec. 10.—In the trial of George Brunner, now in progress here for the murder of Frank Hunter, Mrs. Hunter, wife of the murdered man, brought from jail, has taken the witness stand and turned states evidence, making a clear confession of what she knew of the murder, which caused great excitement. In her testimony she says substantially that Brunner followed her husband out of the house on the Monday morning when his dead body was found, and upon his return told her he had finished him (Hunter) by hitting him on the head with a crowber and discharging a load of shot into his bead, after which be took the dead body and threw it into the water tank. Mrs Hunter also stated that when she and Brun ner were arrested and in jail at Massillon Brunner told her not to say anything about his being absent from her house that Monday morning. Mrs. Hunter denies taking any part in the murder. Her testimony staggers the counsel for the defense, who are also her counsel. Brunner turned deathly ale while listening to it. Another importar act was put in evidence. Brunner handed a tote to Mrs. Hunter in the county jail, which read as follows: "I know that you are not guilty, but don't tell ou me." Being anable to read, she handed the note to the turnkey, who kept it. Mrs. Hunter's trial is set for the 12th, but her case will, in all probability, se nolled prossequed.

More "Grent" Billiards.

Philadelphia, Dec. II.—The first of a series of games of billiards between Edward Mclaughlin, of Philadelphia, and John R. Mclaughlin, of Philadelphia, and John R. Heiser, of New York, for $350 aside and receipts at the door, was played at the Assembly building in this city, resulting in a victory for McLaughlin with a score of 1,000 to 135. In the fourteenth inning McLaughlin got the balls in a corner and run up the unprecedented score of $05, finishing in the midst of the most intense excitement. The game was a three ball carom. A. C. Anson, of base ball fame, acted as referre, and P. of base ball fame, acted as referee, and P. Levy scorer. The next game of the will be played early in the coming month.

The Last of Him, Possibly. CLEVELAND, Doc. 13.—John Washington, the crank, who has been turning St. Louis apside down by proposing to marry Gen. Sherman's daughter, and who came to this city determined to make Miss Mollie Garfield, daughter of our late president, his bride, has been judged insure, and handed over to the authorities, who will remove him to the infirmary for lunatics,

An Autobiography. By Anthony Trolloge. New York: Harper Brothers. Price $1.25. Mr. Trollope was one of the most prolific writers of modern times, and are of the best. He has written no less than 48 different works. They cover fiction and biography, and are classed among the highest writings in these fields of literature. His life was more or less eventful, and in this elever piece of autobiography, he gives some interesting incidents connected with his early cureer as a writer. He was a miserable failure at first, but he worked hard to gain public confidence and win disfinction, and at last succeeded as all readers of current literature well known. The book before us will prove a valuable and standard piece of biography.

Keely Thinks About the First of February Will See Her Move.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 13.—The stockholders of the Keely Motor company held their annual stated meeting in the offices of the corporation on Walnut street. President Randall stated that the board of directors appeared before the stockholders without a written report. "We have several reasons for this," he said, "the principal cause being that any report at this time might do Mr. Keely a great injustice." He then read a long letter from Mr. Koely, in which that gentleman expresses regret at the delay in the man expresses regrot at the delay in the completion of his labor, etc. The letter con-cludes: "I will say, however, that I do not see wby I may not fulfill your expectations within the next two months, and I would suggest that the meeting of the stockholders be postponed to Feb. 1, 1984." In pursuance of the request of the inventor, Mr. Randall moved request of the inventor, are remeal moved that the mosting proceed at once to an election of directors for the ensuing year, and adjourn without further action until Feb. 1. Habitable Globs. Fluances Discussed in the United States | Senate-.. The Effort to Save O'Donnell--- Home and Foreign frems.

Washington City, Dec. 12.—In the senate Van Wyck offered resolutions calling upon the secretary of the treasury for copies of all vouchers of items of expense for special or assistant attorneys and detectives, with the control of t or assistant attorneys and deterfices, with the names of the parties, since March 3, 1881, except such period as has been covered by information already furnished to the senate. The senate took up the resolution offered postediar in Book dissoling the constraint. yesterday by Beck directing the scoretary of the treasury to furnish information concern-ing the sinking fund, etc., and Deck addressed ing the shall. He said, there was, in his opinion, no nacessity for keeping up a taxation of $50,000,000 above the necessities of the govof 8-30,000,000 above the necessities of the government. The outstanding bonds ought to be allowed to run their full legal term and the people be given the redef they demanded. The policy of the treasury department in regard to the sinking fund was simply an effort to keep up taxation under false presences.

Sherman pointed out that all the information called for by the resolution was to be found in the report of the secretary of the treasury. He believed in the policy of the continued payment of the national debt and would be sorry to see it interrupted. This policy should be maintained to the full extent of the law, as it would tend to preserve the honor and credit of the country.
Bayard wanted the resolution enlarged so as to ascertain the legal status of the sinking fund and the legal powers of the government in dealing with the public funds.
Itapid as might be the extinction of public debt, it should nevertheless be under the forms and the sanction of law. From 1860 to 1874 a disastrous financial policy was pursued, and we have suffered the penalty of to 1574 a disastrous financial policy was pur-sued, and we have suffered the penalty of paying off the dott before it became due. He had been unable to see the wisdom of that policy, but the debt had been reduced in a costly, but not injurious, manner to the people.

After some remarks by Plamb, the resolution was amended to include a report as to the provisions of law under which the reduction of public debt has been effected and was agreed to. Wilson called up and made a set speech on his joint resolution for a new article of the constitution guaranteeing equal protection to all citizens under the law.

Garland said that, on account of the decision of the supreme court on civil-rights questions, propositions had been introduced into the senate looking to remedying the defects or troubles pointed out in that decision, This decision had created disappointment in certain quarters, but he held it was in perfect accord with previous decisions of the court on kindred questions. In his opinion the disappointment was caused by the minority opinion of Justice Harlan, which was inconsistent with previous findings of the court. The resolution was referred to the committee on judiciary. The senate went into executive session and at $2.15 p. a. adjourned.

London, Dec. 15.—After a loss of eleven days owing to the refusal of the crown officials to divulge the identity of the jurors in the O'Donnoll case, five of them have been found and consulted with by the prisoner's counsel. Three of the jurors have suggested a meeting of the whole jury with a view of arresting the execution of the death sentence until each can explain his verdict and the circumstances which led him to decide that O'Donnell was guilty of murder. Addresses have been issued to the remaining unidentified jurymen, appealing to maining unidentified jurymen, appealing to them to attend a meeting, which must be convened within the maxt forty-eight hours to convened within the next forty-eight hours to be of any assistance in saving, or at least prolonging, the life of the condemned man. FIRE AND FLOOD. St. Paul, Minnesota, Sustains a Heavy

Man Relieved to Mave Periches ... Twenty-three Men Drowned.

Sr. Paul, Minn., Dec. 13.—A fire which foots up in losses to the amount of $340,000. with insurance aggregating $252,430. and not $40 worth of salvage has destroyed Drake's flock and the adjoining balldings in this city. The buildings burned were E. P. Drake's five story brick, and the Reeves heirs, of New Richmond, Ind., four-story store adjoining. The fire caught in the cellar of the Drake building, and doubtless from the range of Magoe's restaurant. The latter cost $30,000 it fittings, and was one of the show places of St. Paul. For an hour after the department got to work no one had any idea the Drake block would go, but the firemen could not get at the seat of the trouble, owing to fire location and the blinding smoke. Chief Black and a party of men, in trying to force their way in, were marly suffocated. At 1:20 a. in the finness broke up through the first floor. The entire building was soon a mass of flames, and presented a magnificent spectade. The Morchant's hotel was directly opposite, but was protected, as were other buildings, by lines of hose on the roofs. When the eastern wall of the Drake block broke through, the roof of the Brake building sprang into flame, and of the Drake block broke through, the roof of the Reeves building sprung into flame, and P. R. I. Hardenbergh & Co., leather dealers, with $120,000 worth of stock, and Arthur, Warren & Albott, dealers in notions, with $20,000 worth, did not save a cent. Both are fully covered by insurance. The upper stories of the Drake block were used as offices. R. G. Dun & Co. lose all their records, the Sioux City land department valuable papers, C. H. During the conflagration two men broke through the skylight of Kuhl & Co.'s wholesaletiquor store, a few doors below the Drakejilock. They were scantily clad and stated that they had been awakened by the smoke and ran for their lives. One of them returned to the burning building and rescued his trunk and his or them rescued his trunk and his gold watch. As he was leaving he heard a man crying "Fire" in the halls. He called to the man to follow, but the party seemed paralyzed by the smoke, and did not come. He feared, therefore, that the man, whoever he was, had porished in the flames. It is reported that others met their death in the same way, but this is highly improbable.

A Juranese Schoolhouse.

[Yokohama Letter.]

Beside the clear, crystal waters of a running stream and surrounded with lilies, we noticed what we thought to be a schoolnoticed white we thought to an school-house and curiosity prompted us to ask ad-mittance. There were some difteen children in the room, which was firmished with long-plain natics. There appeared to be no check upon the children, who were moving about and conversing with each other. The master was teaching the smaller ones the characters of written language by writing them on a blackboard and requiring them to re-peat the sounds indicated by them. Some were engaged in writing upon their states, others in arithmetical calculations and others in reading and committing to memory from text-books. There seemed to be an entire freedom from restraint, and we are surprised at the happy and contented manner in which they pursued their studies. Bright and in-telligent little fellows they looked, and from what we have seen of the youth of Japan we are convinced that there is much to be expected from them.

Gen. Sherman's Habits. Shorman did not make use of an amanuer sis or a short-band writer, and rarely it was that a staff officer wrote a letter for him. He used to say that he did not have time to bother with clerks and stenographers. I do not know of a more fluent writer than Sherman. He never alters or crases, and his man. He never alters or erases, and his writing is as fine and delicate as a woman's. His habits? Yes, I can tell you something of them; a man without pride of thought in dress, he nevertheless impresses you as a rich man. In his daily walks and talks he wears no badge of rank or service. He goes to bed about 12 midnight, and sleope six hours. In the morning a modest, though a hearty breakfast, and then to his private offer to read and write.

At 9 or 10 he was accustomed to go about six hours and doing more work than all his staff put together, and doing it per-fectly in detail. At about noon he was very liable to go out with folly old Gen. Van Vliet and get a glass of whisky and water and a bit of lunch—then back to the department. Where anything needed his attention be always went. If it was not important he sent a staff officer. Leaving the war departsent a stan omeer. Leaving the war department at 5 or 4, he took two or three hours to his own enjoyment, walking, driving or vibling. Dining at 0, he again went to work in his library or office, if no engagements claimed him. I never saw a man so fond of the opera or the play. Always in front of the stage box, it was not unusual to see him swaying his head and body to the nusic of the opera and beating time with his hands—a great lover dr music is he. With women he is very popular and can flatter with a winning tongue. He never commits excesses in drinking, eating, smoking or late hours, though heaven know he loves a good dinner, a good cigar, a glass of wine or spirits, and likes to talk at night with men of brains. He is a great loss to Washington, and we are really crying on eyes out at his going.

Though the grange is not in any sense a political organization, its principles wherever carried ent must surify the political atmosphere, and make every member better qualified for the exercise of every privilege of citizouship. New ques-tions of public policy which under our form of government are continually pre-senting themselves for solution, call for greater intelligence, onliner deliboration, and even higher patriotism than in the times of our forefathers. It seems almost a question whether the people who were American a little while ago can assimilate so much that is foreign to their constitution, without deterioration. Our territory, which seemed so inbaustible, narrows itself before the yast emigranarrows itsen tion setting in from the out tion setting in from the out which is stimulated yet further by special agencies. Our virgin soils are showing the effects of exhaustive tillage. The forests are disapppearing. LABOR AND WAGES.

An Amicable Adjustment at Troy. New York .- Pribune . Printers Strike Again.

ALBANY, Dec. 13.-The great iron industry in this community is much depressed, and very many men are idle. After hearing a full statement of the affairs, made personally by the principal officers of the company, 2,000 employes of the Burden Iron com-pany, of Troy, have voted unanimously to submit to a reduction of 10 to 20 per cent. in wages, until better times, and thus pre-vent a shut down of any kind during the winter. The best of feeling prevailed during the meeting between omployers and employes, which was characterized only by frankness.

Owing to overproduction and decreased demand, the Peninsalar Iron company's rull mill has been shut down, and the company has discharged about 500 men. The other oranches of this establishment, which during good times employs about 2,700 men, are running at only half capacity. The officers of the company capnot say whether or not it will be necessary to formation given to parties wishing to inmake any further reductions of capacity this Strike on The Tribune Again. New York, Dec. 13.—Another strike of compositors took place in The New York Trilame office. With the exception of Thompson, the foroman, and a half a dozen compositors, all the mon left the office. Since recent strike The Tribune has been a uniun" office, paying 46 cents per 1,000 ems. The men claim that everything went along smoothly until about a week ago when they noticed that Thompson was negotiating with non-union men from out of town, and they claim that he intended to "rat" the office as soon as he could get a sufficient num-ber of men. He told several union men that there was no more work for them, and filled their places with non-union men. Mr. O'Donnell, president of Typographical union No. 6, was informed of the condition of affairs, and he ordered the men out. Thompson claims that he has enough non-union men to get the paper out, and that everything will be working smoothly again. In a day or two. The office is guarded by a large force

The Canadin Pacific Strike. Winnered, Dec. 13.—Up to this hour, 9 p. m., there is no change in the aspect of the strike on the Canadian Pacific road. All the employes, including those in the mechanical departments, are out from Port Autrim to the end of the track. A train was run out to St. Vincent with Superintendent Egan as fireman and Master Mechanic Fink as engineer. Prosecution fireman and Master are threatened against the men who de serted their engines. Mon have been tele-graphed for to New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburg, St. Paul, Chicago and Boston, as well as to eastern Canada and relief is expected in a few days. Meanwhile no mails are helpy sent out except once daily to the south. All so far has been quiet but if new men arrive to take charge of trains trouble may be expected. There are 3,500 men off work with no immediate prospect of settlement. The company says it will never give in until the men come by terms.
